The National Organization of Black Law Enforcement Executives (NOBLE) utilizes the expertise of its members to lead in the development of strategies to develop community partnerships to help reduce violence, delinquency, crime and help citizens improve the quality of life in their neighborhoods. NOBLE members have taken a leadership role to impact law enforcement policies and criminal justice procedures that ensure equity in the delivery of service to the public they serve.

NOBLE is an incorporated 501©3 non-profit organization with more than 3,000 members and over 50 chapters worldwide. Our membership represents chief executive officers and command-level law enforcement officials from federal, state, county, municipal law enforcement agencies, and criminal justice practitioners. The combined fiscal budget oversight of our membership exceeds $8 billion.

NOBLE is committed to instilling pride in the profession by fostering diversity at all levels of law enforcement leadership. NOBLE also strives to restore respect for law enforcement officials by reaffirming the ethics and integrity of the profession and addressing matters of misconduct within the law enforcement community. NOBLE accomplishes these goals through training, research, community outreach, and by personal example.

NOBLE has created programs designed to institute change in the lives of youth and adults in an environment where they are cultivated and motivated to thrive. Committed to a holistic approach, our signature programs are in the areas of Mentoring, Education, Leadership Development, and Safety.
The National Organization of Black Law Enforcement Executives (NOBLE) was founded in September of 1976 in Arlington, VA during a three-day symposium to address ways to reduce crime in low income areas. The initial gathering was sponsored by the Joint Center for Political Studies, The Police Foundation, and the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration. The attendees of this symposium were African-American law enforcement executives that represented over fifty major American cities. These pioneers in the upper ranks of law enforcement saw the need to leverage their leadership roles in creating policy and standards.

Our history spans over 42 years and our reach spans the world!

The National Organization of Black Law Enforcement Executives (NOBLE) serves as the conscience of law enforcement by being committed to Justice by Action. NOBLE has over 50 chapters and represents over 3,000 members worldwide that represent chief executive officers and command-level law enforcement officials from federal, state, county, municipal law enforcement agencies, and criminal justice practitioners. NOBLE serves more than 60,000 youth through its major program components which include: Mentoring, Education, Leadership Development, and Safety.
Mission & Vision of NOBLE

Mission

To ensure EQUITY IN THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE in the provision of public service to all communities, and to serve as the conscience of law enforcement by being committed to JUSTICE BY ACTION.

Vision Statement

The goal of NOBLE is to be recognized as a highly competent, public service organization that is at the forefront of providing solutions to law enforcement issues and concerns, as well as to the ever-changing needs of our communities.

The basic tenets of our founding members still ring as true today as they did over 42 years ago.
For over 40 years, the National Organization of Black Law Enforcement Executives (NOBLE) has conducted a variety of culturally-specific training for the community and law enforcement in the areas of community policing, domestic violence, sexual assault, and youth violence with a particular emphasis on developing policies and strategic plans to properly respond to calls for service.

NOBLE has created programs designed to institute change in the lives of youth and adults in an environment where they are cultivated and motivated to thrive. Committed to a holistic approach, our signature programs are in the areas of Mentoring, Education, Leadership Development, and Safety.

Our signature program, The Law and Your Community®, is a nationally recognized hands-on interactive training program for young people ages 13-18 and adults designed to improve their communications with law enforcement officers and their understanding of their federal, state and local laws. Components of the program include: Citizenship, Law Literacy, and Law Enforcement Education. Since December of 2014, this program has positively impacted over 50,000 U.S. citizens in over 450 communities across this country.
The key areas of focus are Police Accountability: (Consent Decrees, Organizational Assessments), Deadly Encounters: (Policies Aimed at Reduction & Best Practices), and Gun Violence Reduction: (Develop & Implement Evidence-Based Strategies).

There is universal recognition within NOBLE of the importance of Police Accountability in the form of collaborative reform (local agency voluntary federal assessment), patterns and practices investigations, and consent decrees. The federal government can play an important role of influencing local municipalities and their police agencies to address systemic issues that are adversely impacting their ability to protect and serve their local citizens. The ultimate goal in police accountability is to strengthen trust and legitimacy between law enforcement and the community. A strong trustworthy and legitimate agency can create a safer environment for law enforcement officers and citizens of that community.

It is NOBLE’s belief that violence and particularly gun violence is a public health issue. Mental illness is one common thread between deadly encounters and gun violence. The following recommendations to address violence are: (1) crisis intervention training, (2) engaging mental health practitioners in daily delivery of policing services, (3) performing a comprehensive study on gun violence, and lastly (4) performing a research-based analysis on the causes of deadly encounters from the perspective of the community and law enforcement.

Annual Youth Leadership Conference
Cleveland, OH July 24-29, 2020

The NOBLE Youth Program convenes an Annual Youth Leadership Conference in conjunction with NOBLE’s annual national training of law enforcement executives. The concept of the annual youth conference was born out of a need to affect change in young people and to enhance community relationships between youth and public safety organizations by increasing awareness, appreciation, and career interest in public safety. In addition, the conference was instituted to educate youth on how to meet challenges and develop leadership skills through an exciting action-oriented curriculum.

The leadership conference aims to expose over 200 youth to the many critical issues faced by law enforcement in combating crime and promoting public safety, while introducing youth to ways to prepare themselves for successful leadership roles. The youth leadership conference is utilized as a mechanism through which young people can learn skills common to effective leaders. The NOBLE Youth Program believes that young people who have the desire to be leaders can excel if given a chance with exposure to skills and concepts. During this conference, participants learn to assess their strengths and weaknesses, develop strategic plans, set goals, and communicate effectively.
